

Rethinking the history of the sciences in Europe:

historiographical approaches and future prospects

convened by Ana Simões

CIUHCT – Centro Interuniversitário de História das Ciências e Tecnologia
Faculdade de Ciências, Universidade de Lisboa

Rethinking the history of the sciences in Europe:

historiographical approaches and future prospects

@CIUHCT, FCUL
University of Lisbon

04_05.OCT'19

A Fac. of Sciences, UL (entrance): 38°45'23.83"N, 9° 9'18.53"W

B Fac. of Sciences, UL (workshop 4 Oct): 38°45'23.97"N, 9° 9'22.23"W

C Fac. of Sciences, UL (meeting room 5 Oct): 38°45'22.25"N, 9° 9'23.87"W

D Casa do Lago (lunch 5 Oct): 38°45'20.58"N, 9° 9'10.60"W

Funded by FCT, I.P. through the Project UID/HIS/00286/2019

Workshop, 4 October 2019

Venue: Faculdade de Ciência da Universidade de Lisboa,
Building C1, Floor #3, Amphitheater FCIências.ID

9:00 Welcome

9:30 Agustí Nieto-Galan (CEHIC, Universidad Autonoma de Barcelona)
How to write a 'European' History of Science? Some Critical Reflections

10:15 Maria Paula Diogo (CIUHCT, NOVA University of Lisbon)
Europe goes global: narratives from the History of Technology perspective

11:00 Coffee Break

11:30 Frank James (Royal Institution)
Davy's career in European perspective

12:15 Simone Turchetti (CHSTM, University of Manchester)
Science diplomacy as a concept and its significance for historians of science

13:00 Lunch - Building C6, Clube Ciências

14:30 Roberto Lalli (MPIWG, Berlin)
Socio-epistemic networks and the history of science in Europe

15:15 Mitchell Ash (University of Vienna)
Science and politics as resources for one another: rethinking a relational history

16:00 Karine Chemla (CNRS, SPHERE)
Remarks on the shaping of European historiographies of mathematics in the 19th and the 20thcenturies and their present-day impact

16:45 Coffee Break

17:00 Final comments by Clara Florensa (CEHIC) and Davide Scarso (CIUHC) and general discussion

18:00 (Recommended closing time)

19:30 Workshop Dinner. Restaurant À Mesa com Marta Bártolo at Rua dos Navegantes, 19, 1200-729 Lisboa (take a taxi or Uber)

5 October 2019

Venue: Faculdade de Ciência da Universidade de Lisboa,
Building C5, Floor #4, Meeting room 5.4.20
ESHS Council and Scientific Board Meeting

9:00 – 12:30 Meeting

10:30-11:00 Coffee break

12:30 - 14:30 Lunch at Restaurant Casa do Lago. Campo Grande (walking distance)

14:30 – 16:30 Meeting

16:30-17:00 Coffee break

17:00 – 18:30 Meeting

Agenda for the day (order of topics may change according to convenience)
What has been done during the past year.

President/Vice-President/President Elect. Introductory remarks

Young Scholars network. Report by Hugo Soares

Treasurer. Report. Financial situation of the Society, present and future. Challenges (open access, etc.)

Editor-in-chief Centaurus. Report on Centaurus and mentoring program. Open Access task force

Webmaster. Report. Revamping of ESHS web-site. Young scholars profile. Access to Centaurus via ESHS web-site.

Secretary. Report.

Newsletter Editor. Report. 2022 ESHS meeting

Public Relations. Report. Connection with other learned societies. What we offer to our members (especially if Centaurus becomes open access)

Bologna meeting. Report by Ezio Vacchari

What is to be done in the next year:

Discussion on who in the SB is in a second round, and preparing the future elections for SB and Council.

Neuenschwander Prize: deadlines and vote;

Thinking about bids for the 2022 ESHS meeting;

ESHS Survey. Mapping the ESHS community;

New actions on how to further support young scholars network: young scholars PhD prize and publication series.

Archive for the history of science.